Message for Year 11 Parents/ Carers:

Hasn't time flown? We are now in the final week of the GCSE exams. However, this week is crammed with exams (please see the calendar on the school website for more details), so there's no slowing down.

Alongside the GCSE exams we are busy enabling ALL Y11 students to complete a computing award called ECDL. Our plan is that by the end of this week 90% of the students will have passed this qualification. Most other schools are also completing ECDL, therefore if students do not complete the course they will be in the minority without it on their CV. We do not want this for any of our students.

If your son/daughter has not managed to complete the course by Friday they will be asked to come in for a session after Friday to complete the qualification. It really is in their best interest to do so.

The students will officially leave on Friday. Following the Physics exam we will gather the students in the hall at 11.30am for a final farewell assembly. They will then leave the school premises at around 12noon.

Can I take this opportunity to thank you for all your hard work and support to both your son/daughter and the school in getting them to this point. It will be an emotional experience saying goodbye to them on Friday as they have been a pleasure to teach. Can I wish both them and yourselves all the best in the future?

Thank you,
Mrs Wilkinson

P.S. There is one more Product Design exam after the students leave on the morning of 26th June.
